

Fantasy Fiction Book Projects

Due: Thursday, March 21st

For this month's book project you will choose 1 of the 2 projects: Sandwich Book or Cereal Box Project. The guidelines for both are below, so make sure you pick one that you think would be the best one for you!

CHOICE 1: Sandwich Book Project

Here are the instructions for creating your sandwich book. You will complete the required parts, using the templates provided.

1. Write the book title, author, and illustrator (if there is one) and your name on the BREAD TOP.
2. Write a 1-2 paragraph summary of the book on the LETTUCE. This would be like what you might read on the back of a book, providing only the most important details.
3. Describe or draw the book's setting on the TOMATO.
4. Describe the main character(s) on the MEAT.
5. Write about the book's problem or the main event on the CHEESE.
6. Describe a part of the book that you thought was sweet or sad on the ONION.
7. Tell what you liked or didn't like about the book and the reasons why on the BREAD BOTTOM.
8. Lightly color (in crayon or colored pencil) each part of the sandwich, but make sure you can still read everything you wrote. You can always color each part first, then type the information and glue it onto the template.
9. Last, put your sandwich together. You can staple it or fasten it together with a brad or a ring. (Ms. Coleman can provide you with these)

CHOICE 2: Cereal Box Book Project

If you could event a cereal based on the book you read, what would it be? Here are the instructions for creating your cereal box project. You will use a large, empty cereal box (or a box of that size) and cover each side as the directions below indicate.

1. Cover the entire box with construction paper, to hide whatever writing or pictures are underneath.
2. Choose a name that sounds appealing and that relates to your story. On the FRONT of the box, you will write the name of your Cereal and draw a picture to go with it. You might draw characters or other pictures, to help sell your product. (Look at actual cereal boxes for ideas)
  - i. You will also need to include the author and your name somewhere on the front.
3. On the BACK, you will design a game or activity that is based on the story. It can be a puzzle, a word game, or any other fun activity that you think would be found on the back of a cereal box.
  - i. Other ideas include: a mail-in offer for a toy, advertisements that tell why people should read the book or a cartoon based on the book.
4. On the RIGHT side, you will use the heading "Ingredients," and list the characters. You will neatly write or type 1-2 sentences describing each character. On the bottom  $\frac{1}{2}$  of this same side, you will write a 1 paragraph description of the setting.
5. On the LEFT side, you will neatly write or type a 1-2 paragraph summary of the book, including information about the main events, which include the problem or conflict and the solution, in detail.
